1 – First you will need to open the software and click 'Cancel'

2 – Next, click on the 'Settings' tab in the top left and open the 'System Preferences' option

3 – In the System Preferences box, click on the 'Editors' tab on the left. Down the list of options, un-tick the box next to 'Use standard configuration picker?'

4 – Press 'OK' at the bottom of the System Preferences box and close the software.

Now when you run up the software and create a new design, you won't be prompted to pick one of the Ultraframe Extension-Plus designs.
